Flemington United Methodist Church announces the Music Showcase at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 12, 2017.

The Music Showcase received overwhelming response from area young musicians this year. Nine elementary musicians from third to fifth grades will compete for the top prizes of $300, $200, and $100. Seventeen middle schoolers from sixth through eighth grades will compete for the top prizes of $400, $300, and $200.

Twelve high schoolers from ninth through eleventh grades will compete for the top prizes of $500, $400, and $300. The contestants will play varieties of instruments including piano, voice, guitar, violin, flute, viola, saxophone, clarinet, trumpet and cello.

Irene Novak, the director of the Showcase, noted that because of the volume of participants, the concert will start earlier than the original plan of 3:00 p.m. and there will be two intermissions during the concert. The church had to turn down two applications due to late registration and continue to receive inquiries about the concert.

The purpose of this concert, according to Pastor Paul Jaw, is to provide incentive and recognition to talented, motivated students who will perform their piece of music in a public formal setting; to further music education, and to develop Flemington as a center of music and arts.

The Music Showcase will be held on Sunday, February 12, 2017 at 2:00 PM in the sanctuary of the Flemington United Methodist Church, 116 Main Street in Flemington, NJ. It is sponsored by the Bodine Family Trust and the contribution of the members of Flemington United Methodist Church. The concert is free to the public. Parking can be found in Lot 1 and Lot 2 of the borough. Both are near the church. Come celebrate young musicians and support the culture of music.

For more information, please contact the church at (908) 782-1070 or visit the church website at www.flemingtonumc.org or find them on the Facebook.
